

water

[HCM431] Listeria is an example of a Gram-positive organism that survives in the environment

[HCM431] A flagellum is a thread-like appendage attached to the cell membrane

[HCM431] Staphylococcus aureus is a common cause of bacterial food-borne disease Worldwide

[HCM431] There are basically two parameters that affect the growth of microorganisms in food products
extrinsic and intrinsic

[HCM431] There are basically two parameters that affect the growth of microorganisms in food products
DNA and nutrient

[HCM431] Sometimes a small number of surviving cells may persist for months after death of the majority because they grow on the nutrients released by the dead cells

[HCM431] Sometimes a small number of surviving cells may persist for months after death of the majority because they grow on the nutrients released by the food

[HCM431] A large number of microbes cause diseases in all except Man

[HCM431] Complex media are mostly used in everyday cultivation, adding ingredients of unknown composition

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net