

2

[LIS210] A computer is an electronic device

[LIS210] The computer system is made up of hardware and software

[LIS210] Hardware components that disseminate and display both data and information is known as output device

[LIS210] A pointer on the computer screen used in navigating or moving around on the computer screen is called mouse

[LIS210] Some of the basic units of the computer are input unit, processing unit and storage unit

[LIS210] The Central Processing Unit (CPU) is made up of Arithmetic Logic Unit (ALU) and Control Unit (CU)

[LIS210] Programmes that are more narrowly focuses on specific disciplines and occupations are Specialized application software

[LIS210] Which computer unit is used to send out data?
Output unit

[LIS210] The task of performing operations like arithmetic and logical operations is called processing

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net