

person; the first is descriptive and the second is what?
Normative

[PHL205] Anthropology is generally defined as the study of man. This definition comes from two Greek terms combined to produce the concept. The two Greek terms are logos and what Anthropos

[PHL205] What ultimately came to the rescue of anthropology in its failure to study man?
Fundamental Ontology

[PHL205] Although there are different perspectives about who a person is, there seems to be a consensus on the fact that personhood is a given status. True?
FALSE'

[PHL205] From your study of this course what has the noble task of directly calibrating what belongs to human beings in general without regard to colour, race, size and status?
Philosophical Anthropology

[PHL205] In African cultural interpretation, one does not become a person until he or she has met certain requirement.
Social requirement

[PHL205] The western conception of the human person is built on a radically opposed schools of idealism and what?
Materialism

[PHL205] Anthropology as the study of man does not appear to provide a clear picture of what man truly, universally, is. Anthropology's attempts to furnish an understanding of man are fraught with imprecision and tainted with racism. This makes it [anthropology] a poor science of man. What do you say?
TRUE'

[PHL205] What is the defining feature of both African and Eastern theories of personhood?
Social solidarity

[PHL205] How were men able to know the state of existence of the ancient humankind?
Anthropology

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net