

None of the options

[BIO306] The time when a female animal is receptive to a male and ready to mate is known as oestrus

[BIO306] The structures called nephrons can be found in which of the following organs
Kidney

[BIO306] The structure of the male animal that carries both urine and sperm is called Urethra

[BIO306] The body wall is only two cell layers thick in Cnidarians

[BIO306] Structures of the body that are responsible for conveying information/ messages around the body are called
Neuron

[BIO306] The structural area where two bones meet is known as a Joint

[BIO306] In Slime mould, oxygen and nutrients are obtained directly from the aqueous external environment by diffusion

[BIO306] The part of an Elephant responsible for the production of sperm is testes

[BIO306] Identify the body system to which kidneys are part of Excretory

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net