

9/10

A plant diseases which occurs when new cases of certain disease in a given plant population, and during a given period, substantially exceed what is expected based on recent experience, is said to be Epidemic

The following are examples of consanguineous marriage relationships, except Two distant-related parents

The late blight Irish potato famine of the 1840s was caused by Oomycete Phytophthora infestans

Intra-specific hybridization was first demonstrated by Charles Darwin and Gregor Mendel

A durable resistance is one that continues to be effective for Multiple years of widespread use

A plant resulting from the addition of a specific gene or genes or by knocking down a gene Transgenic plants

All the following are examples of incestuous relationships except Two distant parents

A plant whose origin or selection is due primarily to intentional human activity is called Cultigen

The two chromatids of a chromosome separate from each other during Mitotic metaphase

Emasculation is done to make plant devoid of pollens so that it is made Female

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net