

Selfing in flowering plants is approximately 50%

The following are major activities of plant breeding except Sex linkage

The inbreeding coefficient of an individual is approximately half the relationship between The two parents

Inbreeding takes place in the following except inbred strain

The term which describes plants that exhibit little disease damage despite substantial pathogen levels is known as Disease tolerance

Mass selection is done annually on the same plant for a minimum of 3 years

The following are steps involved in plant breeding technique, except Plant tissue culture

In the process of preventing selfing in plants, all the following are halted except Flowering

Roles of plant breeding include the following except Sanitation

Requirements for development of disease resistant maize cultivars include the following, except Screening tools

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net