

Titer

[BIO406] The major risk factor for severity of rheumatoid arthritis is ____.
Cigarette smoking

[BIO406] Variolation is the ____.
Poking the skin with powdered material

[BIO406] ____ antigens are generated within the cell.
Endogenous

[BIO406] A phenomena in which exogenous antigens share structural similarities with certain host antigens is referred to as ____.
Molecular mimicry

[BIO406] The non-fatal virus that can induce immunity to smallpox is ____.
Cowpox

[BIO406] Edward Jenner introduced the safer method of cowpox virus inoculation in the year ____.
1796

[BIO406] The hope of life of an aids patient is determined by their ____.
CD4+T cells

[BIO406] Klebsiella pneumoniae has been strongly correlated with ____.
Ankylosing spondylitis

[BIO406] The following are operative mechanisms in the pathogenesis of autoimmune diseases except ____.
Autoimmunity correlation

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net