

arthropods

[BIO407] Insects exhibit great reproductive capacity and several special features of their growth and development. This have enhanced their ability to persist ----- in unfavourable environments

[BIO407] Which of these does not form a source of food for man?
butterfly

[BIO407] Which of these is not true?
The relative big size of most insects facilitates dispersal

[BIO407] The subclass pterygota is characterised by what?
wings

[BIO407] The ability of insects to have a widespread ----- promotes colonization of new habitats dispersal

[BIO407] In insects, ----- eyes are present.
compound

[BIO407] The ability of insects to lay large numbers of ----- that can be carried by air, water currents produces a great amount of genetic variability that can be tested against the environment resistant eggs

[BIO407] What is the length of intestine of herbivorous insects?
very long

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net