1. What is a stylus?

A pen-like device with which a user sketches an image.

2. ------------------------ allows you to use computers to create, edit, sore and print documents.

Word processing software

3. Computers do not have intelligence of their own; they rely on the instructions and data supplied by a --------------------- in order to perform a task.

User

4. One of these options is not a features of a 1st generation computer.

Transistors were used in placed of vacuum tubes.

5. _____ help managers make better decisions and achieve competitive advantage, and to facilitate seamless internal and external communications with their employees, customers, partners, and other stakeholders.

Management Information System

6. . -------------------------- is meaningless until it undergoes some forms of processing

Data

7. The arrival of the ------------------- in the ------------- expanded business capabilities and the role of information systems to a global system of interaction.

System internet and 1990s

8. The software designed to allow the computer to manage its own resources and run the hardware and basic operations is called ------------------------.

Systems Software

9. -------------------- is the reason why data must be stored on secondary storage devices which are able to hold data and programs on a more permanent basis.

Because the computer primary memory is limited in the amount of information it can store at a time.

10. In measuring the performance of a storage device, all these three parameters are consider except.