

weighing bottle

[CHM291] Coloured impurities present in the crude material to be recrystallized are removed using _____.
activated charcoal

[CHM291] To correct the reading of a weighing balance to reflect zero, you _____ the weighing balance
tare

[CHM291] If dehydration of a hydrate or melting of an organic solid occurs during an experiment, we must carry out _____.
recrystallization

[CHM291] The action of light on silver chlorides causes the compound to _____.
hydrate

[CHM291] The process in which a soluble substance picks up water vapor from the air to form a solution is _____.
Deliquescence

[CHM291] Ionic substances precipitated from aqueous solution are separated from the solution by _____ method
simple distillation

[CHM291] _____ is to separate two liquids of different boiling-point.
fractional distillation

[CHM291] The apparatus used in experiment involving a reaction mixture that has to be kept boiling for an appreciable time and the solvent is volatile is _____.
reflux condenser

[CHM291] A filtering crucible is used for _____ filtration
gravimetric

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net