

a sensitive compiler (

FORTTRAN programing language is a _____
Compiler language

Which of the following is not an example of properties required for developing a good program
Program Compression

REAL and INTEGER are examples of a _____
END PROGRAM

FORTTRAN was developed by which of the following company
IBM

All of the followings are steps necessary in dealing with errors in program compilation and execution except
Check for proper software types

When was Fortran first developed and widely-used as a high-level language?
1957

Programs that can easily be upgraded called?
Scalable Programs

Programs that can survive various unexpected events are known as?
Robust Programes

FORTTRAN programing language is used to solve a _____ complex mathematical computations (