

Bailor

[CLL332] A person who determines and utilises his own means and skill and not falling within the control and supervision of the employer is otherwise called _____ independent contractor

[CLL332] The one with not power to bind the other in contract save to preserve the property the subject of bailment is called
Bailor

[CLL332] The one with power to act for his principal in all his affairs in relation with a particular kind of business, trade or profession is called general agent

[CLL332] Agency may be described in all of the following terms but one particeps criminis

[CLL332] The relationship of agency can only be established by _____ of the parties thereto, which are the principal and agent.
consent

[CLL332] The function of the law of agency is to enable agents to bring _____ into contractual relations commercial parties

[CLL332] To create a true agency relationship a _____ must be performed in such a way as to affect the principal's legal position relative to third parties`
Representation

[CLL332] The touchstone of a true agency relationship is the entitlement of the agent to _____ alter the principal's legal relations