

production crops

[ESM345] _____ the process of the flowering response to daylight, are controlled by solar radiation.

Photoperiodism

[ESM345] Some plants are light loving (e.g. pine, birch, and larch trees) while others love _____ (e.g. beech and spruce) shade

[ESM345] Agriculture is perhaps the most weather sensitive of all man's _____ activities economic

[ESM345] Citrus fruit, cotton, sugarcane and rice will not grow well if temperatures are below _____.
15°C

[ESM345] _____ and pineapples thrive only when temperatures are always above 21°C for at least part of the growing season
Coconuts

[ESM345] The main climatic elements that affect crop production are solar radiation, temperature, moisture, _____.
wind

[ESM345] Tropical crops like _____ and dates require high temperatures throughout the year cocoa

[ESM345] _____ radiation provides the warmth and the energy that powers the agricultural system.
Solar

[ESM345] Excessive heat can destroy the plant _____ protoplasm.

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net