

plant

[ESM424] _____ is a branch of environmental science which focuses on the examination of living organisms in the natural environment.

Ecology

[ESM424] These are some essential _____ and their compounds, which are absorbed by organisms in the ecosystem, and are required as a food source or for respiration.

elements

[ESM424] Secondary consumers feed on primary _____ consumers

[ESM424] The study of ecology in freshwater contains _____

All of the above

[ESM424] _____ is characterised by unique plant and animal species which have adapted to the environment and each other

Ecosystem

[ESM424] There are _____ main constituents of the living environment that form the fresh water ecosystem

4

[ESM424] The ecology which deals with fresh water ecosystems is called _____.

Fresh water

[ESM424] Plants which are capable of synthesizing food by harnessing energy from inorganic compounds through the process of photosynthesis are called _____.

autotrophics

[ESM424] Organisms that feed on other organisms as a source of food are called _____.

consumers

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net