

have the same spelling is _____ phonology

[LIN111] Language is believed to unique to humans because it is _____ innate-based

[LIN111] In English the use of 'k' in 'kite' and 'knot' illustrates a one-to-one correspondence between _____.
sound and symbol

[LIN111] The study of how sounds are produced is _____ phonetics

[LIN111] Linguistic study is generally studied under the broad areas of acro-linguistics and micro-linguistics [LIN111] The difference between human communication and animal communication is that animal communication is _____. stimulus-based

[LIN111] The difference between studying languages and studying linguistics is that linguistics is the study of _____. how language works in general

[LIN111] All except one of the following is used in the various definitions of language stimulus

[LIN111] In language, symbols are used to represent _____. sounds

[LIN111] Linguistics involves the study of all except one of the following _____. philology