

Which of the following will the midwife elicit by palpating the lateral abdomen of a pregnant woman?

Heart rate

The degree of flexion of the head on the neck of fetus is termed

Attitude

Meconium present in the large intestine of a new born should be totally excreted with

24 – 72 hours after birth

24 – 72

The normal growth pattern of the newborn baby is:

Cephalo-caudal

Why should a woman in labour be encouraged to void urine every 2 hours?

A full bladder may prevent the presenting part from descending

When the head is not flexed but erect, the presenting diameters are

Occipito frontal and bi-temporal

Daily requirement of iron for a pregnant woman is approximately

5mg

The action to be taken by the midwife when the head of the baby is not visible at the onset of 2nd stage of labour is to:

Arrange for caesarean section

Babies regain their birth weight in 7 – 10 days

7 – 10

In platypelloid pelvis, the anterior posterior diameter is:

Short but transverse diameter is longer

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net