

Inflammation of cornea

[NSC511] Which of the following is not a cause of ophthalmia neonatorum?
Exposure to x-rays during antenatal period

[NSC511] The client is being discharged from the ambulatory care unit following cataract removal. The nurse provides instructions regarding home care. Which of the following, if stated by the client, indicates an understanding of the instructions?
I will wear my eye shield at night and my glasses during the day

[NSC511] The nurse is performing an admission assessment on a client with a diagnosis of detached retina. Which of the following is associated with this eye disorder?
A sense of a curtain falling across the field of vision

[NSC511] Cataract surgery results in aphakia. Which of the following statements best describes this term?
Absence of the crystalline lens

[NSC511] When using a Snellen alphabet chart, the nurse records the client's vision as 20/40. Which of the following statements best describes 20/40 vision?
The client can see at 20 feet what the person with normal vision can see at 40 feet

[NSC511] The nurse is caring for a client following enucleation. The nurse notes the presence of bright red blood drainage on the dressing. Which nursing action is appropriate?
Notify the physician

[NSC511] Which of the following is not a type of colour blindness?
Nyctalopia

[NSC511] Oxygen when administered in high concentration to a premature infant results in _____?
Retinopathy of prematurity

[NSC511] The client sustains a contusion of the eyeball following a traumatic injury with a blunt object. Which intervention should be initiated immediately?
Apply ice to the affected eye

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net