

responses to political issues, events and actors is difficult to study emotions

[POL411] The identification of individuals into in-groups and out-groups is tied to____ social identity

[POL411] The concept____is defined and thought of as units of thought composed of some cognitive component i.e.knowledge attitudes

[POL411] _____refer to what happens in the mind or the knowledge organised in the minds of individuals from observation to response to stimulus cognitive system/processes

[POL411] _____focuses on the personal characteristics, that is the motivation and traits of political leaders mostly analysing their psycho-biographies psychodynamic psychology or personality theory [POL411] ____is an interdisciplinary field of study that explains political behaviour through application of psychological principles political psychology

[POL411] The first task of _____is identifying or ascertaining any variable or factor that influences or is influence by another factor scientific method

[POL411] The core of one's political being and is unique to each individual is called_____ personality

[POL411] Enhancement of positive distinctiveness of social identity by advancement to groups of higher status is____ social mobility

[POL411] Political Psychology is built on two basic principles_____ political influence and political behaviour

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net