

Those audits carried out by employees of an organisation to ensure adherence and compliance to policies and controls established by the management is called...
Internal audit

Evidence of auditing existed during Babylonian times, around ?
3000BC

One of the following is not an advantage of audit
Punish fraudsters

In the following, one is not the audit approach of the work done by auditors
Asorption

Auditing is an examination of the accounting books and the relative documentary evidence so that an auditor may be able to find out the accuracy of figures and may be able to make report on the balance sheet and other financial statements which have been prepared from there. This definition was given by who?
R.K Moutz

The word "audit" came from the latin word "audire", meaning ?
To hear

The Society of Accountants was founded in Edinburgh in ?
1853

One among the following is not a limitation of audit?
Auditors engage in a fight during audit

An audit of financial statements is to enable the auditor express an opinion whether the financial statements are prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with an applicable financial reporting framework. This is regarded to as ?
Primary objective of audit

Detection and Prevention of frauds is ?
The secondary objective of audit