

The individuals who currently are experts in solving the problems; the system is intended to solve are called
Domain expert

What is the ability of the system to explain the reasoning process that it used to reach a recommendation
Explanation

_____The ability of the system to reason with rules and data which are not precisely known
Copy with uncertainty

Drawbacks of blackboard architectures is

All of the option

The individual who will be consulting with the system to get advice which would have been provided by the expert are

User

A computer program that mimics the judgment of experts by following some sets of knowledge rules is known as Expert system

___ Are individual who builds the user interface, designs the declarative format of the knowledge base, and implements the inference engine
System engineer

The individuals who encodes the expert's knowledge in a declarative form that can be used by the expert system are
Knowledge Engineer

___ Allows the find knowledge in knowledge based , database and using them to develop innovative strategies .
Inference mechanism

The main task of I/O module is to create an interface between knowledge-based system and its surroundings, which is represented by

End-users