The following are different types of evaluation except, _____
internal vs. external evaluation

The performance measure success can be measured in the following ways except, _____ quantitative value of the variables

Performance of brute force backtracking can be improved by the following techniques EXCEPT _____ Forward jumping

Which layer of the Subsumption Architecture system is responsible for obstacle avoidance?
Layer 0

The Subsumption architecture system is built in how many layers?
Three

the first language developed for artificial intelligence is _____ IPL

An Environment that changes over time independent of the actions of the agent is called _____ Dynamic

Natural language understanding seems to require extensive knowledge about the outside world and the ability to manipulate it. It is hence referred to as _____ AI-complete problem

Knowledge representation is a fragmentary theory of intelligent reasoning, expressed in terms of three components. Which of the following is not among?
the nature of the state space

Which of the following is NOT true?
All are wrong