

away from feudalism towards capitalism can best be described as Social change

[CRD422] Conflict perspective's focus is on change

[CRD422] The social theory that entails the interaction of opposing forces starting from a point of momentary stoppage is the Hegelian

[CRD422] The social change which is concerned with changes arising from the influence of education on the attitude and overt reactions of people is known as Behavioural change

[CRD422] Social change comes about with tangible/intangible resource inputs as social investment

[CRD422] Marx recognized the need for change so that societies could function more equitably

[CRD422] Community involvement in directed change is synonymous with popular participation

[CRD422] Social changes pervade all aspects of societal life and may manifest in these areas except complex change

[CRD422] In contrast to functionalists' emphasis on stability, Marx argues that conflict is desirable aspect of social change

[CRD422] One of these is not one of the elements of social structure according to Richard (2006)
social governance

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net