

Growth hormone deficiency in childhood that has no identifiable causes is called _____ idiopathic

Classification of diseases based on the bodily region or system is termed topographic

The most famous of all antibiotic drugs, is derived from a common fungus called _____ penicillium

A Chinese caterpillar fungus which parasitize insects can be called _____ method of parasite control Bio-control _____ is a common skin disorder that produces thick red plaques covered with silvery scales psoriasis

The first stage of inflammation is called _____ irritation

Neurological disorders that affect the structure of the brain or spinal cord is collectively called _____ central nervous system diseases

When a person is born, certain defenses in the immune system are naturally present in the body called _____ innate immunity

An increase in the amount of organic tissue that results from cell proliferation is called hyper genesis

The most famous of all antibiotic drugs, is derived from a common fungus called _____
penicillium

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net