

The life table was introduced in _____ century
17th

An ever-changing interrelationships among the set of variables that influence the demographic makeup of populations as well as variables that influence the growth and decline of population sizes is called _____
Population dynamics

The sudden decrease in the death rate which is accompanied by an increase in the birth rate is known as _____ Population explosion

The demographic methods for modeling population processes include _____
All of the above

The main problems to control world growth population includes _____
All of the above

The average number of people living in each unit area is referred to as _____ Population density

Migration ratio is
 $\text{Net migration divide by Births-death} \times 1000$

The World Population day is usually commemorated in _____ day and _____ month of every year
11, July

The movement of people within the same country without crossing any international boundary is called what?
Internal migration

The most populous country in the world is _____ China

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net