

1. _____ can be defined as our intensive investigation about pertinent aspects of a particular unit in a given situation.

Case study research

2. _____ is a face to face oral interaction between the investigator and the respondents.

Interview

3. _____ involves a dialogue between a text, such as myth, drama, fairy story, dream report, oral history.

Hermeneutical Phenomenology

4. _____ can be said to mean all investigations about social and educational phenomena conducted in natural settings.

Naturalistic inquiry

5. Which one of the following is not an advantage of an informal conversation interview.

Interviews are short and precise

6. _____ provides the most direct route to uncover the essential structures of consciousness.

Neuro-Phenomenology

7. _____ is any group of individuals that have one or more characteristics in common that are of interest to the researcher.

Population

8. Which one of the following is not an advantage of an informal conversation interview.

Interviews are built on and emerge from observations

9. Which one of the following is not among the steps involved in a survey research.

Colating

10. _____ is often misunderstood in term of a distillation of sensory perception of the world of objects into conceptual categories.

Abstraction

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net