

Delegation of functions to subordinates in an administration leads to _____ Bureaucracy

The method of administration that provides for no rules and regulations is called _____ Anarchy

_____ is a law, regulations, procedures, administrative action, incentive or voluntary practice of government and other institutions.
Policy

_____ is defined as an institutionalized right to imply power.
Authority

The process of administration that inform his/her subordinates of new development is called _____.
Reporting

The process of administration that refers to the planning of a activities and functions to be carried out by the administrators and their subordinates is called _____ Programming

_____ is a skill in school health programme that help the administrator to establish a good working relationship with his staff
Human skills

All these are scope of administrative policies in school health education programme EXCEPT.
Policies prevent arbitrary decisions _____ is a way of working with people to accomplish the goal of an organization Administration

The skills of an administrator in the school health programme that relates to the tasks of an administration is called _____ Technical skills

Whatsapp: 08089722160 or click here for TMA assistance

Practice E-exams & Chat with course mates on noungeeks.net